The Power of the Aggie Ring

There's a special connection between Aggies. Wandering around an airport, shopping at the grocery store, or out with friends. In Houston you're always bound to come across the Aggie Ring. Once that connection is made, it may be followed by a head nod or even a Howdy! It gains us entrance to a not-so-secret club of camaraderie.

Non-Aggies can't help but shake their heads when two Aggies are together in conversation. We talk about "The Traditions," reference "Back in the Day," and inevitably talk about how the Aggies are going to perform "this Fall."

Just recently, I found that my ring opened the door to a new career opportunity. Stacked against several other applicants with similar experience, I was able to walk into my interview, shake my potential boss's hand, and glean the exact moment we saw each other's rings.

As I've spent the last few weeks diving into my new role, I'm often reminded of the quote attributed to General George S Patton, Jr.: "Give me an Army of West Point graduates and I'll win a battle...Give me a handful of Texas Aggies and I'll win a war." The Aggie Network recognizes hard work and determination from its former students, and I look forward to my first opportunity to pay it forward to another Aggie.

I challenge our Members to introduce themselves to one new Aggie this month. By doing so, you'll make a connection and maybe even a friend. You never know when a member of your network could introduce you to new possibilities.

Gig 'em!

GOOD BULL!

Kristina Hilton Powers '91, Jennifer Jones Osowski '92, Julie Humphries Lund '92

When a family friend took Jennifer Osowski '92 to her first Bonfire as a little girl, she knew she would eventually break her UH Cougar father's heart. When the time came, she only applied to one school, the one 70 miles down the road from her family home in The Woodlands.

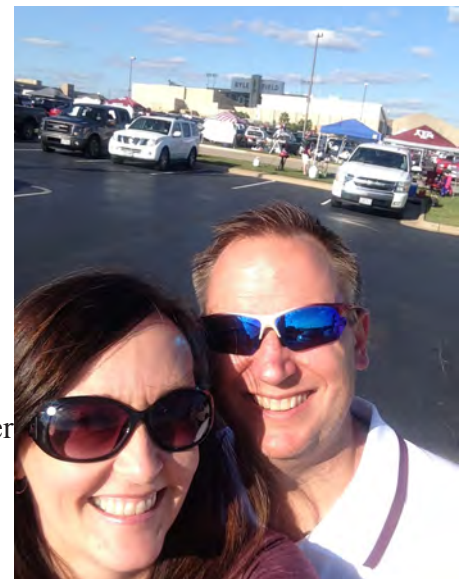

Jennifer spent her first year behind the tall, skinny windows of the Commons, where she met her life-long best friend Julie (Humphries) Lund '92. They eventually moved off campus to a duplex on University, where she remembers calling 911 a lot when drivers tried to make it across University at an intersection without a light. But her favorite memory is studying for Spanish class, where in true Aggie style, her study group did its best work at Dudley's Draw.

Jennifer didn't meet her husband in Aggieland, but rather at her first job. He initially studied out of state, but quickly learned the importance of higher education, getting his Executive MBA in '05 from the Mays Business School when it was still in The Woodlands. Jennifer is most thankful for the support of her adorable boys.

WHAT-A-AGGIE

Jennifer originally joined the Whataburger family, in 2003, as a Field Marketing Coordinator. After a two year departure to work in Chicago, Jennifer rejoined the Whataburger family, in 2008, and is currently the Regional Marketing Manager for the greater Houston area, representing 125 restaurants...and counting. In addition to directing a team of three field marketers, Jennifer is responsible for initiating and maintaining large scale partnerships to ensure that the Whataburger brand stays top of mind with consumers.

In her tenured marketing career, Jennifer has had the privilege of working for many great brands including the Cynthia Woods Mitchell Pavilion, Gibson Guitars, NRG Park, and Morton's The Steakhouse. Jennifer sits on the Board of the Greater Houston Restaurant Association serving as Treasurer. And Jennifer and Whataburger graciously sponsored the 2015 Reveille Golf Tournament.

"As a proud Aggie graduate, wearing orange every day is very difficult."

Aggies Join Forces to Deliver Quality Legal Services

Bradley Rapp '88 followed his father, Jack '59, to Aggieland from his hometown, El Campo. In addition to being a CT, Brad served in a variety of student government positions, from President of Alpha Kappa Psi to speaking about A&M all across Texas for the A&M Student Speakers' Bureau. Brad graduated with a BBA in Accounting and a BS in Political Science. Most importantly, though, Brad met his wife Laura '88, who also hails from an Aggie family. After attending Hamline Law School in Minnesota and SMU Law School in Dallas, and graduating in 1993, Brad returned to El Campo to start his practice, moving to Houston in 1995.

Kenneth Krock '93 was born in Houston, grew up in Victoria, and chose A&M, not only because of its traditions, but also because many of his friends went there. Before graduating in 1993 with a BBA in Management, Ken founded, and was the first president of LEGALS (Legal Education Group for Aggie Law Students) – A&M's first moot court and mock trial team. Ken then earned his JD, in 1996, from the UH Law Center.

These Aggies didn't meet, however, until one of Brad's clients needed an aggressive employment litigator to prosecute two former employees who had opened a competing business. "We were referred to Ken by a mutual acquaintance," explained Brad. The two worked together for a year before realizing that they had a lot in common. In addition to being Aggies, each shares a commitment to client service. "Brad's commitment to his clients is second to none," Ken notes. "I think it is one of the reasons his clients come back to him for legal services over and over."

In September 2010, Brad and Ken merged their law practices to form Rapp & Krock, PC, with eight attorneys representing and advising small and medium size closely-held businesses, as well as investors and entrepreneurs, in a wide variety of transactions and litigation, handling almost all of their legal needs.

Brad and Ken continue to support Texas A&M, including volunteering as judges for student competitions at the Mays Business School. In the fall, they can be found at Kyle Field with many of their friends tailgating at each Aggie football game.

Both are residents of Katy, involved in the local community and numerous charities. Brad has served as a Katy Youth Basketball Director, a wish coordinator for Make A Wish, a Boy Scout troop volunteer, and at Houston Christian High School, where both of his sons attend. Ken serves as a Katy Youth Football Director and on the Houston Bar Associations Special Olympics and Charity Golf committees, coaches his middle son's football and soccer teams, and is the President of the Texas Aggie Bar Association.

In February 2015, at 75, Gary Bateman '61 packed his Aggie flag and headed for his wife's homeland. "The Chinese people were so friendly [on the Great Wall of China]." When his wife translated that the flag was from Texas A&M, everyone smiled and many asked for their photo to be taken with Gary and this "strange flag."

Another Aggie on the District Bench

When Jonathan Ibarra '86 taught his little sister the Aggie War Hymn, little did he know that he'd one day inspire Debra to follow in his footsteps. Nor could he know that years later, Governor Greg Abbott would appointed Judge Debra Ibarra Mayfield '96 as judge of the 165th Judicial District Court in Harris County.

Since 2011, Judge Mayfield has served as judge of Harris County Civil Court at Law Number One and currently serves as Administrative Judge of the County Civil Courts. In 2013, Texas Executive Women selected Judge Mayfield as a "Woman on the Move." She is also past president of the Mexican American Bar Association of Houston, received the 2014 "Public Service Award" from South Texas College of Law, and is on the board of the Institute of Hispanic Culture.

Advice to my little sister: "Never think of your Fightin' Texas Aggie experience as a right that you deserved, but as a blessing you were granted by our loving God."

Jonathan spent many game nights on Debra's couch. The couch was comfortable; the blanket, however was a torture device...as if it had several cat o' nine tails woven in! For three years, every time Jonathan visited, Debra gave him the blanket with a huge smile – so happy he visited and she could put him up. Several months after graduating, Debra took a nap and used that blanket for the first time. "She wondered how I managed to sleep under it, and marveled that I never complained," remembers Jonathan. To this day, "we laugh at that memory more than I can describe!"

Sam Williams is a Houston native, and known by his friends, family, and fellow Aggies as "Sammy." He received his bachelor's of science in industrial technology. He is one of five African American students to enroll full time as freshmen in the Corps of Cadets back in the '60's. And he and his roommate were the first two African American students to walk on the Aggie football team.

While he is retired – technically – that hasn't stopped him from being deeply involved in the Aggie community. He has served on the Texas A&M Letterman's Assn Board, where he is a lifetime member, a Director of the HAMC, 2011 Chairman of the Houston Reveille Club, and a member of the 12th Man Foundation. And that list doesn't stop there. In 2005, he and Mr. Freddie Wong developed the HAMC's Caring Aggie Mentoring Program, where he's still very active today.

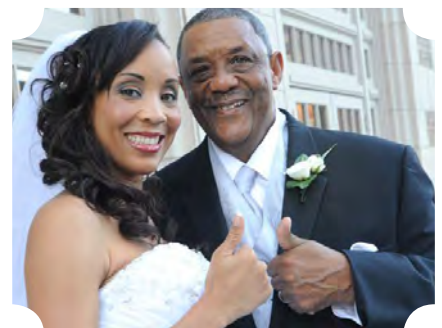

Now as I've said, my dad doesn't really know the meaning of retirement. He hasn't really grasped that yet. But that's ok because I told him all of these activities will keep him sharp and prepare him for wearing his next hat, which will be grandpa, babysitter, and the man who will utterly spoil this future Aggie

Princess beyond belief - to the point where me and my husband will just be the people who just say "no" and feed her. So without further ado, I give you ... Sammy Williams.

Special thanks to Angela (Williams) Cataldo '01 for introducing her dad at this year's Houston Aggie Muster. The HAMC wishes you and your family good luck with your project!

Silver Taps for one more Aggie who has gone.

A black and white photograph of three men playing trumpets. The man on the left is a young man in a dark jacket, playing a trumpet. The man in the center is a middle-aged man in a suit and tie, also playing a trumpet. The man on the right is an older man in a suit, playing a trumpet. They are all smiling and looking towards the camera. The background is a plain, light color.

Also, to Angela Williams '01 for recording the introduction for your father; he was truly shocked and surprised! And Freddie Wong '69...thanks for helping us keep the secret and being able to shock and surprise Sammy.

LEAVE A LEGACY ON THE LINKS

Make history by naming the Aggie golf course, or perhaps just a hole. The on-campus course just underwent a multi-million dollar renovation, but its name remains The Campus Course. For more information, contact Scott Atkinson '92, PGA, at scott@tamucampuscourse.com or 281-723-5155.

"Someone was pretty smart, about 60 years ago, when they decided to put a golf course at the front door of this university. Now we have an opportunity to upgrade that course and really make the front door of this great Tier 1 university look as beautiful as it should."
